

Presuming that the H-VHF port is a high pass filter that does not attenuate UHF frequencies, this arrangement could be expected to attenuate channels in the L-VHF band by 20 dB or more.